

This poem was written by Nell Dorman for the 1997 A7 National Rally in Maroochydore

The Baby Show

There's going to be a Baby Show,
It will be the best in town,
Lots are coming from the cities
And towns for miles around.

Bring out the little cuties
And show them at their best;
Perhaps they'll gurgle, cough and wheeze,
It will put them to the test.

'Twill be a mighty sight to see,
Babies decked out all the week;
Fine coats and hoods and bonnets
And their best shoes on their feet.

Photographs, souvenirs and prizes
Amid lots of frivolity,
And the best panoramic scenery
You will ever likely see.

So enrol your little treasures,
There's bound to be a lot of fun:
Like chatting about those smelly exhausts
When the baby is 'on the run'.

Where will this great event be seen?
Where else but the Sunshine Coast!?
Come and gather at this paradise
To celebrate and boast.

There's going to be a baby show,
Austin Seven's Seventy-fifth,
At Easter - Nineteen ninety-seven,
It's the show not to be missed.

Nell Dorman.